Forest Park Civic Association

APRIL, 2018

Welcome

President's Message

From Ed Vanasdale, FPCA President

In the early weeks of March on "Next Door" there was chatter about a camp of homeless people in Woodward Park. A question about this was asked of Officer Clinger, our liaison with the Columbus Police Department, at the March Blockwatch meeting. Officers Clinger, Geiss, and Stacy along with a representative of the Parks and Recreation Department walked the entire wooded area of the park and found no evidence of any homeless activity. Officer Clinger er even had a helicopter check the area for activity and none was found. What was found, however, were coyote tracks. Residents are warned to be on the look out for Wile E. Coyote! If you have cats or small dogs, you should keep an eye on them when they are outside. Coyotes are nocturnal animals which are not human predators, but which will attack small animals if the opportunity presents itself.

In late April the Forest Park Civic Association will begin its yearly membership drive. You will be receiving in the mail the May 2018 Forester along with a membership application and information about the association. The yearly fees are only $25.00. That money covers a wide variety of services of which you may not be aware. The maintenance of the entrance islands for both west and east Forest Park areas is paid for by this fee. In addition, the beautification awards, security checks of the neighborhood, the garage sale, insurance, the welcome committee packets, the community picnic, and membership in the Northland Community Council are all included in this $25.00 fee. These all play part of keeping Forest Park strong and vibrant. All members of the association board, officers and representatives, are 100% volunteers. They give of their time to keep our neighborhood great. Please become a member of our organization and do your part to help. We are glad you are part of our neighborhood and hope you can take the time to be involved in what Forest Park has to offer you. Thanks, and enjoy the season of Spring. - Ed

Doing your Part in the Neighborhood—what that involves Having sat in the president's seat of the Forest Park Civic Association, I can tell you that many days it would bring phone calls or email that would zap your entire day. The calls normally come from people you have never met. Unfortunately in our internet era, people have become comfortable with demeaning others they haven't met personally.

So put yourself in the role of the president. You receive a call from someone who is not a member of the civic association. He/She feels no need to pay $25 to help support the all-volunteer organization. At the same time, the caller expects your full attention and service. It usually begins with a general statement about the neighborhood where the person holds you accountable for any issue found to be objectionable. You receive the caller's anger over unresolved problems, although you never knew these issues existed.

Then it is your turn to ask questions in a polite, respectful manner as you need to take the higher road. You ask "How long has this problem been going on?" The response is a long length of time. Your next question would be, "Did you report this problem?" The answer is always "no." Then usually the next question is "Are you a member of the Civic Association?" The answer is "No" followed by a change of subject going back to problems with the neighborhood. Lastly, you ask the caller if he/she would be willing to help FPCA with some of these concerns and the response is that he/she is too busy. And so it goes.

I write this article primarily because our president recently received another of these calls. However, for the countless supporters who have dedicated time to help boost the neighborhood, all I can say is you have my deepest gratitude.

But how can a Forest Park resident not active in FPCA help with neighborhood issues?

- When you see something in the neighborhood that needs to be addressed, most commonly a code violation, graffiti, a pothole needing filled, please report it to the city through its 311 system. You can do this electronically at 311.columbus.gov Also you can call the city's 311 hotline at 645-3111. In my experience they are very responsive on potholes and graffiti (if it is on public property).
- Contact your area representative or an FPCA officer to report the case number that has been assigned. FPCA is very good about maintaining pressure on cases already put in progress.
- Expect follow up from both the city and the association.
- Keep up to date with the civic association through Facebook, and our electronic email system. If you wish to have an address added to the system, contact Mike at 614 218-1788 or msto0103@yahoo.com.

At the same time, please keep in mind that neighbors sometimes do objectionable things that are not in violation of city code or legal structure. FPCA is not an enforcement organization but rather one that is well connected with the city and has a pretty strong voice to make sure code/legal issues come to a resolution. No solution is guaranteed, but going through this process makes it more likely that the situation will come to a good outcome.

City Council Member Remy Visits FPCA

by Ken Gilbert

At the March meeting of the FPCA, newly appointed Council member Emmanuel Remy came by for a visit. He had been the President of the Northland Community Council for the past 6 years until his appointment in January to fill the unexpired term of Zach Klein, who was elected as Columbus City Attorney in November, and is a local Realtor. He chairs the Public Service & Transportation, Environment and Administration committees. Of those, the first drew the most attention from those in attendance. Emmanuel began by talking a little about his experiences and how it was a challenge to be the chair of the Public Service and Transportation committee in the middle of winter, with the snowy weather we have had, as his committee is responsible for the Snow Warriors among other duties.

He also spoke a bit about the proposed plans to fix the service road situation on 161 and the proposed solution with roundabouts, noting, however, that the project likely would not begin for another 3-5 years. However, a fix for the traffic issues at Cleveland and 161 is in the works and should be complete sometime next year. He then took questions from the audience. Among the issues that came up were bus routes and safety on 161 and the issue of non-working cars being left on city streets for extended times (the idea being proposed is to require that such vehicles be moved 100 ft instead of the current rule in which a move of a few inches is acceptable). Continued on page 7.....

For the bus issue, the problem is that ridership along the 161 corridor is low at the present time (at most one or two riders per stop and often none). City Council is in contact with COTA on bus routes and issues. Most improvements come through grants, and it is hard to get a grant to fix things when the ridership isn't there. We also discussed concerns about lighting and speeding in our area. This was an excellent opportunity for our residents to meet and talk with city government, and we hope to have more such opportunities in the future. Thank you Emmanuel Remy for taking the time to visit with us.

Supplemental Security News

March Forest Park Block Watch Meeting Recap

Some of the topics discussed at the March 13 Block Watch Meeting were concerns about people asking for money, possible homeless camp in Woodward Park woods area, and the Vinewood Dr. house fire.

While there are some legitimate homeless people who do need money for food, there are unfortunately a lot more who are asking for donations to purchase alcohol or drugs. It was recommended that if you want to give money to help out the homeless, making donations to the food bank or an area homeless shelter are better options.

There is a local Forest Park church that has volunteers who hand out sandwiches and fruit to the homeless.

There have been reports of fights between homeless people trying to collect money at various intersections because they know they can get a lot of money from folks.

The house on Vinewood destroyed by fire now has an orange placard placed on it by code enforcement it stating that no one is allowed in or on the structure, including the owner(s). Anyone in or on the structure can be arrested for violating the placard. The exception is that people are allowed to clean up the yard.

There was discussion about the recent Next Door post about the report of a possible homeless camp in the Woodward Park area.

They did see one coyote sneaking through the woods so you may want to keep your small pets on a leash if you live in the surrounding area or walk your pets in the park
